

DROPS V25.2

New Features

Version 25.2 of DROPS is a stability-focused update, preparing the ground for major improvements to come. Here are the main highlights of this release.

AsCode reliability

The reliability of AsCode mode has been improved in the Designer, especially when using deployment templates. Identified issues during the save process have been resolved, ensuring better stability in scripted deployments.

maintain a secure and robust platform. While not disclosed in the technical notes, this fix is part of the commitment to application security.

Java 17 migration

Significant groundwork has been done to prepare the transition to Java 17, officially planned for version 26. This ensures a smooth and secure upgrade path for future releases.

Security enhancements

A critical vulnerability has been addressed as part of our ongoing effort to DROPS V25.2 is a strategic consolidation step, laying the foundation for a feature-rich version 26. It demonstrates the team's continued focus on reliability, performance, and future readiness. For any questions or to request a personalized demo, contact your DROPS representative or email us at info@arcadsoftware.com.